Annual Report

Christ's Hands Centre Society

MESSAGE FROM THE CO-FOUNDER

Resilience, Milestones & Momentum

At Christ's Hands, I've seen women arrive with nothing but the will to build a better life for their children – and I watch what happens when they're given the tools to do it. That is the story this report tells: 342 students, 782 graduates, and 102 children who now have a safe place to learn and grow, all because someone believed their futures were worth investing in.

2025 tested us. Funding constraints forced us to pause programs that families depended on, and that was one of the hardest decisions we've had to make. But it also sharpened our focus. We protected what mattered most – ICT training for 240 women and youth, and the Ocean of Knowledge school for 102 children – and we used the year to build a stronger foundation: Christ's Hands Centre Society Canada is now a CRA-registered charity, and in December we secured $50,000 CAD to relaunch three vocational programs in 2026.

That funding tells us something important: when donors understand the model, they invest in it. Now we need partners who will help us go further – restarting soap-making, notebook production, hairdressing, and metal fabrication; expanding whole-family support; and reaching the women and children still in desperate need.

Every gift here is measurable and every dollar is accountable – 98% goes directly to programs. Whether through a monthly gift, a donor-advised fund grant, or a legacy commitment, your support turns directly into skills learned, meals served, and families stabilized. I invite you to be part of what comes next.

"The need is immense, the model works, and with the right support, we can exponentially scale impact."

Robert Porter – President, CHC Canada

About CHC

Who We Are

Our Mission

To empower vulnerable women, single mothers, and youth in Uganda through vocational skills training, education, nutrition, childcare, and psychosocial support, enabling families to achieve self-reliance and long-term stability.

Our Vision

Communities where women and youth are economically independent, children are safe and educated, and families thrive with dignity and hope.

Christ's Hands Skills Training & Child Development Centre (CHS) works with vulnerable women, single mothers, out-of-school youth, and children living in poverty in Kasangati, Wakiso District, Uganda. Christ's Hands Centre Society (CHC) is a registered Canadian charity - (CRA Registration #797342367RR0001.) whose mandate is to direct and support CHS in Uganda

Our Values

We operate on a simple principle: families cannot thrive unless both caregivers and children are collectively supported.

Human Dignity

Every person deserves opportunity, safety, and respect.

Holistic Care

Sustainable change addresses economic, emotional, and family needs together.

Empowerment

Skills and knowledge are pathways to independence.

Compassion

We respond to vulnerability with empathy and action.

Community

Strong families build resilient communities.

The CHC Approach

Why It Works

Traditional TVET programmes often fail to reach or retain those most in need because they overlook the realities of poverty, caregiving responsibilities, food insecurity, and psychosocial stress. CHC takes a different approach by integrating training with wrap around supports that address these barriers:

Childcare & Early Learning

Ensuring children are safe and educated while caregivers train

Daily Nutrition

Feeding programmes for students and children alike

Psychosocial Support

Counselling and mental health services for vulnerable women and girls.

Sanitary Pads

Addressing a critical barrier for women and girls

This whole-family model enables: higher participation and retention, stronger learning outcomes, and greater long-term economic stability.

IMPACT STORY

Nakyanzi Peace joined CHC's TVET-WRAP program in 2024 after being forced to drop out of school due to financial hardship. Like many young women in Kasangati, she faced limited options for continuing her education or earning an income and growing pressure to find informal or unstable work to survive.

Through the TVET-WRAP (Whole-Family Resilience & Advancement Program), Nakyanzi enrolled in liquid soap making, a skill specifically designed for low start-up costs and immediate income generation. What made the experience different, however, was the integrated support she received alongside her training. Access to daily meals reduced the financial burden of attending, while ongoing mentorship and basic business training helped her understand how to price, market, and manage her products.

With these supports in place, Nakyanzi was able to complete her training and begin producing liquid soap for sale. She now supplies local supermarkets and households within her community, generating a steady source of income and gaining independence as a small business owner.

Today, Nakyanzi is not only supporting herself but also contributing to her household's stability. Her journey reflects how combining practical skills with wraparound supports can transform training into real economic opportunity–enabling women to move from vulnerability to self-reliance.

Impact Story

Namubiru Aisha joined CHC's TVET-WRAP program as a single mother determined to rebuild her life and secure a stable future for her child. Living in Gayaza, she faced the dual challenge of limited formal education and the daily responsibilities of caregiving, which made it difficult to pursue traditional employment pathways.

At CHC, Aisha enrolled in computer studies through the TVET-WRAP program, gaining practical skills in typing, document preparation, and basic office administration. Beyond technical training, the program's supportive environment–combined with access to meals and flexible participation–allowed her to stay committed to learning without compromising her caregiving responsibilities.

With these new skills and growing confidence, Aisha successfully secured employment as a secretary at Gayaza Technical Centre. The position provides her with a reliable income and a structured work environment, enabling her to better support her family and plan for the future.

Aisha's journey highlights how access to relevant skills, delivered in a way that recognizes the realities of women's lives, can open doors to dignified employment and long-term stability.

Programme Highlights

What We Delivered in 2025

1. ICT Skills Training (Sustained Programming)

In 2025, CHC maintained its Information and Communications Technology (ICT) training programme, reaching 240 women and youth. This programme provided:

- Foundational digital literacy
- Practical computer skills
- Pathways to employment and income generation

Despite broader programme reductions, ICT remained a critical lifeline for participants seeking to engage in an increasingly digital economy.

2. Ocean of Knowledge School (Child Development)

CHS continued operating its Ocean of Knowledge Pre- and Primary School, serving 102 children. The programme includes:

- Preschool and kindergarten care
- Primary education (Grades 1-5)
- Daily nutrition support

This ensured that children of participating families remained safe, nourished, and engaged in early learning.

3. Whole-Family Support Services

To address the realities of poverty and family instability, CHC continued delivering integrated supports, including:

- Daily feeding programmes for both students and children
- Relationship counselling for vulnerable family structures
- Basic psychosocial support
- Provision of sanitary pads

These services are essential to enabling participation in training and improving long-term family stability.

A TURNING POINT

Building for the Future

1

1. Canadian Charitable Status Achieved

On November 12, 2025, Christ's Hands Centre Society Canada officially received charitable status from the Canada Revenue Agency. This milestone:

- Enables tax-receipted donations in Canada
- Strengthens credibility with institutional funders
- Opens new pathways for sustainable fundraising

2

2. Investment in Programme Restart (2026)

In December 2025, CHC secured $50,000 CAD to relaunch key vocational programmes in 2026, including:

- Information Technology & Computer Literacy
- Sewing & Clothing Design
- Baking & Confectionery

*60 Students per program stream

These programmes are strategically prioritised:

- Baking programme: provides both skills and immediate nutrition
- Sewing programme: includes production of reusable menstrual pads, addressing a critical barrier for women and girls

Looking Ahead

2026 Priorities

With renewed momentum, CHC aims to:

Expand Vocational Training

- Soap making (bar and liquid)
- Notebook production
- Hairdressing and barbering
- Metal fabrication

Strengthen Family Support

- Expand feeding programmes
- Reintroduce family planning and community outreach

Scale Impact

- Increase the number of women and youth served
- Strengthen pathways to employment and microenterprise

Our Commitment

Accessible to Those Who Need It Most

No Fees Charged

No fees are charged to participants

Serving Those With No Ability to Pay

Programmes serve individuals with no ability to pay

100% Volunteer-Driven

All instruction and administration for both TVET-WRAP and Ocean of Knowledge Kindergarte school are volunteer-driven

This ensures that CHC remains accessible to those who need it most–but it also underscores the importance of securing funding to support the growth and scaling up of programs to ensure longer term sustainability.

Closing Reflection

Foundation-Building, Resilience & Preparation

> 2025 was not a year of expansion–but it was a year of foundation-building, resilience, and preparation.

With new charitable status, renewed investment, and a proven model, CHC is now positioned to grow again–reaching more families, restoring critical programmes, and continuing to break cycles of poverty at the community level.
