

2025 Impact Report

Christ’s Hands Centre Society

MESSAGE FROM THE FOUNDER

Resilience, Milestones & Momentum

At Christ's Hands, I've seen women arrive with nothing but the will to build a better life for their children – and I watch what happens when they're given the tools to do it. That is the story this report tells: 342 students, 782 graduates, and 102 children who now have a safe place to learn and grow, all because someone believed their futures were worth investing in.

2025 tested us. Funding constraints forced us to pause programs that families depended on, and that was one of the hardest decisions we've had to make. But it also sharpened our focus. We protected what mattered most – ICT training for 240 women and youth, and the Ocean of Knowledge school for 102 children – and we used the year to build a stronger foundation: Christ's Hands Centre Society Canada is now a CRA-registered charity, and in December we secured $50,000 CAD to relaunch three vocational programs in 2026.

That funding tells us something important: when donors understand the model, they invest in it. Now we need partners who will help us go further – restarting soap-making, notebook production, hairdressing, and metal fabrication; expanding whole-family support; and reaching the women and children still in desperate need.

Every gift here is measurable and every dollar is accountable – 98% goes directly to programs. Whether through a monthly gift, a donor-advised fund grant, or a legacy commitment, your support turns directly into skills learned, meals served, and families stabilized. I invite you to be part of what comes next.

"The need is immense, the model works, and with the right support, we can exponentially scale impact."

Robert Porter – President, CHC Canada

Impact at a glance

342

Students Enrolled

Currently active in programmes

240

Adults in Training

Women and youth in vocational training

102

Children Supported

Through early childhood and primary education

8

Vocational Programs

Established and delivered

851

Participants in 2024

Women and youth served

782

Graduates

Completed training successfully

100% Free

All programmes delivered free of charge

100% Volunteer

Volunteer-driven instruction and administration

90%+ Direct Investment

Of all expenditure invested directly into programme delivery

Daily Nutrition

Provided to all students and children

About CHC

Who We Are

Our Mission

To empower vulnerable women, single mothers, and youth in Uganda through vocational skills training, education, nutrition, childcare, and psychosocial support, enabling families to achieve self-reliance and long-term stability.

Our Vision

Communities where women and youth are economically independent, children are safe and educated, and families thrive with dignity and hope.

Christ's Hands Skills Training & Child Development Centre (CHS) works with vulnerable women, single mothers, out-of-school youth, and children living in poverty in Kasangati, Wakiso District, Uganda. Christ's Hands Centre Society (CHC) is a registered Canadian charity - (CRA Registration #797342367RR0001.) whose mandate is to direct and support CHS in Uganda

Our Values

We operate on a simple principle: families cannot thrive unless both caregivers and children are collectively supported.

Human Dignity

Every person deserves opportunity, safety, and respect.

Holistic Care

Sustainable change addresses economic, emotional, and family needs together.

Empowerment

Skills and knowledge are pathways to independence.

Compassion

We respond to vulnerability with empathy and action.

Community

Strong families build resilient communities.

The Challenge We Address

The Poverty, Skills, and Care Crisis Facing Vulnerable Families in Uganda

In Kasangati and surrounding communities in Uganda, vulnerable women, single mothers, and youth face overlapping crises of extreme poverty, food insecurity, unemployment, and lack of childcare and education. Many families survive on one small meal per day. Mothers are often faced with the impossible choice between caring for their children and seeking skills or income. Youth lack access to market-relevant training that could lead to employment or self-reliance.

These pressures are not only economic – they are deeply human. Chronic hunger, social isolation, and hopelessness have led to severe psychosocial distress among young mothers, with tragic consequences in some cases. Without integrated support systems, families remain trapped in cycles of poverty and crisis.

Christ's Hands Centre exists to restore dignity, stability, and opportunity by addressing these challenges together – skills, food, care, and emotional support – not in isolation.

How we work

Breaking the Cycle

CHC addresses the systemic exclusion of vulnerable women, single mothers, and out-of-school youth from economic opportunity in Uganda. Conventional TVET models force women to choose between learning and caregiving – perpetuating poverty across generations.

Programming

CHC delivers integrated vocational training – tailoring, baking, soap-making, metal fabrication, notebook production, hair & barbering, and ICT – alongside daily meals, childcare, psychosocial support, and financial literacy training.

Who We Serve

CHC serves economically marginalized women, single mothers, and out-of-school youth in peri-urban Kampala, Uganda – along with their dependent children and families.

How CHC improves on existing efforts

Most TVET programs focus narrowly on skills delivery. CHC removes structural barriers to attendance and completion through integrated childcare, nutrition, psychosocial support, and sanitary supplies.

How the CHC approach is unique

CHC redefines TVET as a holistic, learner-centred ecosystem – supporting caregivers and children together as a pathway to dignity, resilience, and long-term self-reliance.

Our Model

TVET-WRAP: The Whole-Family Resilience Program

Traditional TVET programmes often fail to reach or retain those most in need because they overlook the realities of poverty, caregiving responsibilities, food insecurity, and psychosocial stress. CHC integrates vocational training with essential wraparound supports comprising:

Market-Relevant Skills

Tailoring, baking, soap-making, metal fabrication, notebook production, hair & barbering, and ICT

Childcare & Early Education

Safe, nurturing childcare and preschool for dependent children during training hours

Daily Meals

Nutritious meals for participants and children, addressing food insecurity

Psychosocial Support

Counselling and emotional support to reduce distress and prevent family crises

Sanitary Supplies

Production and distribution of reusable menstrual pads to women and girls

Entrepreneurship & Financial Literacy

Practical business skills for immediate economic application

This whole-family model enables higher participation and retention, stronger learning outcomes, and greater long-term economic stability.

2025 in Review

Foundation-Building and Resilience

240

Women & Youth

Supported through digital skills training – foundational digital literacy, practical computer skills, and pathways to employment

102

Children Served

Through the Ocean of Knowledge Pre- & Primary School (preschool, kindergarten, and Grades 1 - 5) with daily nutrition support

$8,650

USD Mobilised

For feeding programmes for students and children

$50K

CAD Secured

In December 2025 to restart vocational programmes in 2026

Canadian Charitable Status Achieved

November 12, 2025 – enabling tax-receipted donations in Canada, strengthening credibility with institutional funders, and opening new pathways to sustainable growth

Whole-Family Support Continued

Daily feeding, relationship counselling, psychosocial support, and provision of sanitary pads maintained throughout the year

Impact Story

From Vulnerability to Self-Reliance

Nakyanzi Peace joined CHC's TVET-WRAP program in 2024 after being forced to drop out of school due to financial hardship. Like many young women in Kasangati, she faced limited options for continuing her education or earning an income.

Through TVET-WRAP, Nakyanzi enrolled in liquid soap making – a skill specifically designed for low start-up costs and immediate income generation. Access to daily meals reduced the financial burden of attending, while ongoing mentorship and basic business training helped her understand how to price, market, and manage her products.

> "Today, Nakyanzi supplies local stores and households within her community, generating a steady source of income as a small business owner and contributing to her household's stability."

Her journey reflects how combining practical skills with wraparound supports transforms training into real economic opportunity.

Lives Changed

From Survival to Self-Reliance

240

mothers & youth trained

Mothers and youth trained in liquid soap making, tailoring, and digital slills – trades chosen for low start-up costs and immediate income potential. By year's end, over 60% of graduates were earning income, supplying local markets and households across Kasangati.

Safe Learning, Nourished Children

102 children supported

102 children aged 2 - 6 received two nutritious meals a day alongside structured early learning. Teachers noted measurable gains in language development and school readiness – and mothers could attend consistently, knowing their children were safe.

Healing Beyond Skills

⅓

fewer crisis referrals

Every enrolled student accessed individual and group counselling sessions facilitated by trained staff. Crisis referrals dropped by nearly a third compared to the prior year, and peer support circles – formed organically among participants – continued meeting independently, a sign that the programme's impact extends well beyond the classroom.

Financial Accountability

Where the Money Went

$80,745

Total Revenue 2025

98%

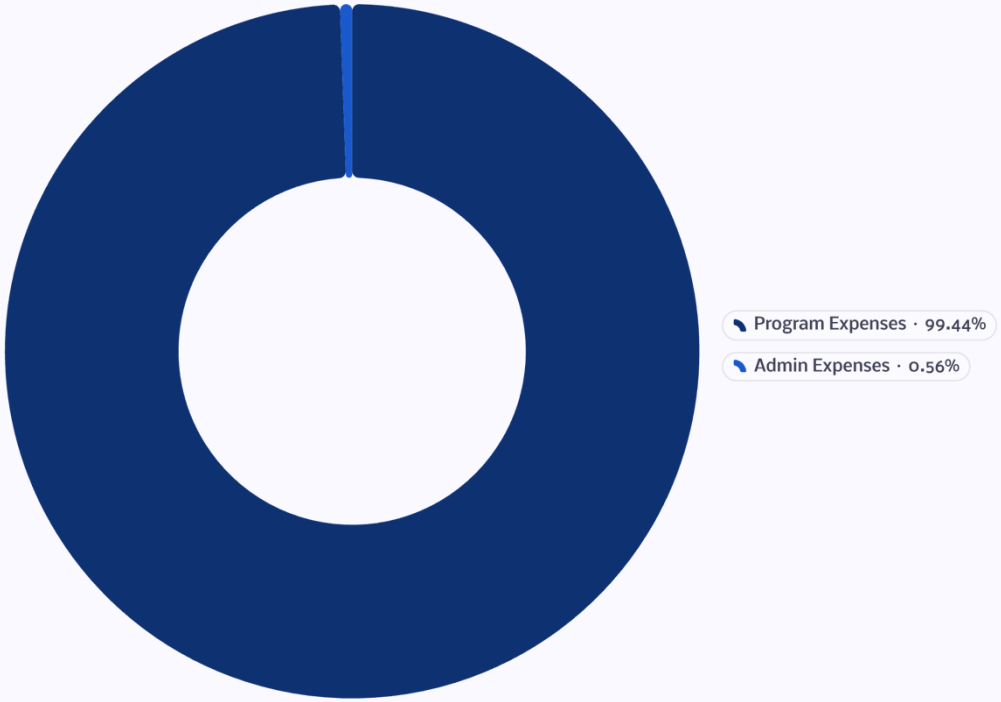

Direct to Programmes

A testament to CHC's commitment to lean, mission-driven operations

Program Expenses: $79,378 – invested directly into programme delivery

Admin Expenses: $451 – lean operations, maximum impact

98% of all expenditure went directly to programme delivery – a testament to CHC's commitment to lean, mission-driven operations.

2026 Program Restart

Your Support in Action

With $50,000 CAD secured, CHC is relaunching three vocational programmes in 2026, each serving 60 students:

Information Technology & Computer Literacy

Digital skills for an increasingly digital economy – 60 students

Sewing & Clothing Design

Includes production of reusable menstrual pads, addressing a critical barrier for women and girls – 60 students

Baking & Confectionery

Provides both marketable skills and immediate nutrition, as students eat what they bake – 60 students

Impact Story

Namubiru Aisha joined CHS's TVET-WRAP program as a single mother determined to rebuild her life and secure a stable future for her child. Living in Gayaza, she faced the dual challenge of limited formal education and the daily responsibilities of caregiving, which made it difficult to pursue traditional employment pathways.

At CHS, Aisha enrolled in computer studies through the TVET-WRAP program, gaining practical skills in typing, document preparation, and basic office administration. Beyond technical training, the program's supportive environment–combined with access to meals and flexible participation–allowed her to stay committed to learning without compromising her caregiving responsibilities.

With these new skills and growing confidence, Aisha successfully secured employment as a secretary at Gayaza Technical Centre. The position provides her with a reliable income and a structured work environment, enabling her to better support her family and plan for the future.

Aisha's journey highlights how access to relevant skills, delivered in a way that recognizes the realities of women's lives, can open doors to dignified employment and long-term stability.

Looking Ahead

2026 Priorities and the Road to Scale

Restart Remaining Vocational Programmes

Bar and liquid soap making, notebook production, hair styling and barbering, metal fabrication

Reintroduce Community Outreach

Family-planning community outreach and essential sex education

Expand Feeding Programmes

Whole-family supports extended to reach more families in need

Increase Reach

More women and youth served, strengthening pathways to employment and microenterprise creation

All programmes remain completely free of charge – CHS serves those with no ability to pay, and all instruction and administration is volunteer-driven.

Get Involved

Partner With Us to Empower Families

Your support helps provide skills training, meals, childcare, and emotional support to families working toward self-reliance and stability.

Ways to Give

- One-time or monthly donations
- Sponsorship of a trainee or vocational program
- Support for meals, childcare, or training equipment

Canadian Tax Receipts

Canadian donors now receive tax receipts – Christ's Hands Centre Society is a CRA-registered charity.

Partnerships Welcome

We welcome partnerships with individuals, foundations, and organizations committed to empowering women, youth, and children through sustainable, community-based solutions.

Learn More or Donate

GET IN TOUCH

Connect With Us

Contact

Robert Porter

President, CHC Canada

info@christhandscentre.org

christhandsskill.org

